Unit Overview

Industry Training QLD offers hands-on, nationally recognised machinery training delivered weekly, subject to numbers, from Wednesday to Friday. These practical courses are designed for individuals seeking to develop or formalise their operating skills in a range of commonly used machinery.

Each course runs over 2 days, however, because our training is competency-based, students may be signed off in just 1 day if they demonstrate sufficient knowledge and skill during assessment.

Theory components are completed at our Toll Street office, while the practical training and assessment take place at our Bluewater training farm.

These units are ideal for:

- Individuals entering the civil construction or agriculture industries
- Workers seeking formal recognition of existing skills
- Employers upskilling staff for on-site requirements
- Participants pursuing plant competency for licensing or employment purposes
